Brief Introduction to the Tourist Spots

Hon Chong Promontory

Hon Chong Promontory is a small stone cape located 1.8 kilometers north of Nha Trang. It was one of the shooting locations of the French film, “The Lover”. The rough granite rocks of Hon Chong Promontory extend out in the direction of the sea. Granite is fairly rare along the Nha Trang coastline.

Po Nagar Temple

Po Nagar Temple is a tribute to the goddess of the same name. The architectural style has hints of Angkor Wat, but at a smaller scale. The Po Nagar Cham Tower consists of three floors, but after over a thousand years of history, only the remaining four buildings have been completely preserved.

Long Son Pagoda

Long Son Pagoda was built in the late 19th century. The attraction of Long Son Pagoda-White Buddha lies in the mountain behind it. White Buddha is 24-meter tall. From Long Son Pagoda, you can enjoy the city view of Nha Trang. If you visit during the pilgrimage ceremony, it calms you down just by watching the local believers devout the Buddha.

Nha Trang Cathedral

With typical Gothic Revival architecture and an eye-catchingly magnificent bell tower, it is a landmark that can be seen from anywhere in the area. When piercing rays of sun light up the interior, bright colors inside the church are revealed. This is an active cathedral and Mass is celebrated regularly.
